AK-CHIN CLINIC – CLOSED DUE TO WATER MAIN BREAK

Gila River Health Care was notified at 1 pm on 11/3/16 about a water main break within the Ak-Chin Indian Community. There is no water service at the Ak-Chin Clinic. Gila River Health Care is unable to provide service at the clinic at this time. The clinic will re-open once water services are restored.

If you are experiencing a medical emergency, call 911 immediately. To reschedule your appointment, or if you wish to be seen, patients should call the Nursing Station at the Komatke Health Center at (520) 550-6030. To schedule transportation, please call (520) 562-3321 Ext. 1384.

About the Gila River Indian Community

Located thirty-five miles south of Phoenix, Arizona, in the Community of Sacaton, Gila River Health Care is a not-for-profit corporation chartered under the auspices of the Gila River Indian Community Tribal government to serve American Indian communities. Today, the organization is comprised of Hu Hu Kam Memorial Hospital, a 15-bed critical access hospital designation located in Sacaton, Arizona. This facility provides a wide range of primary health care services to its populations including a state-of-the-art dialysis unit and comprehensive behavioral health services. The Ak-Chin Clinic is located within the Ak-chin Indian Community to provide this population with primary health care services. The Komatke Health Center, located in Komatke, Arizona, opened in January of 2009 to replace the Gila Cross Clinic and to expand its services to the area. It provides a number of comprehensive primary health services, a state-of-the-art dialysis unit and extensive behavioral health services.
